CHIN 2209 - Intermediate Chinese Reading and Writing for Students of Chinese Heritage I (4 Credits)

This course focuses on reading and writing Chinese at the intermediate level for Chinese heritage students who grew up speaking Chinese with family members. Students will read authentic texts written by iconic Chinese figures such as Xu Dishan and Hu Shih (a Cornell alumnus, class of 1914), and practice writing while exploring various aspects of Chinese culture. Students will exit the course with a book of their own in Chinese as the course project documenting their learning during the semester. This course helps students further solidify their foundation for Chinese study at the next level as well as enhance their awareness of and overall competence in cross-cultural communication. If you grew up hearing and speaking Chinese and have very limited reading and writing proficiency, but have a goal of becoming a true bilingual of English and Chinese, this course is designed with you in mind.

Prerequisites: a grade of B in CHIN 1110 or equivalent as determined through placement test.

Distribution Requirements: (FL-AG), (FLOPI-AS), (OCL-IL)
